

WisdomTree Emerging Currency Strategy Fund (CEW)

In July 2023, the Fund’s Strategy Committee conducted its annual review of the currency exposures for the WisdomTree Emerging Currency Strategy Fund (CEW). After assessing the liquidity of emerging market currencies, the committee decided to maintain its current constituent currencies for the coming year.

Going forward, the Fund will retain its target positions in the following currencies: Brazilian real, Chilean peso, Chinese yuan, Colombian peso, Indian rupee, Indonesian rupiah, Malaysian ringgit, Mexican peso, Philippine peso, Polish zloty, South African rand, South Korean won, Thai baht, and Turkish lira.

The committee believes these constituents should continue to provide a comprehensive and liquid exposure to emerging market currencies. Select emerging European currencies were again excluded given their tight correlation to the more liquid Polish zloty. Despite ongoing uncertainty in Turkey, the market has continued to exhibit sufficient liquidity for the Fund’s projected exposure. We will continue to monitor conditions and the impact policies pursued by the new Turkish central bank governor (in fighting inflation) have on the liquidity of the Turkish lira.

There are risks associated with investing, including possible loss of principal. Foreign investing involves special risks, such as risk of loss from currency fluctuation or political or economic uncertainty. The Fund focuses its investments in specific regions or countries, thereby increasing the impact of events and developments associated with the region or country which can adversely affect performance. Investments in emerging or frontier markets are generally less liquid and less efficient than investments in developed markets and are subject to additional risks, such as risks of adverse governmental regulation and intervention or political developments.

Investments in currency involve additional special risks, such as credit risk and interest rate fluctuations. Derivative investments can be volatile, and these investments may be less liquid than other securities, and more sensitive to the effect of varied economic conditions. As this Fund can have a high concentration in some issuers the Fund can be adversely impacted by changes affecting those issuers.

Unlike typical exchange-traded funds, there are no indexes that the Fund attempts to track or replicate. Thus, the ability of the Fund to achieve its objectives will depend on the effectiveness of the portfolio manager. Please read the Fund's prospectus for specific details regarding the Fund's risk profile.
