

WisdomTree Launches Yield Enhanced Global Aggregate Bond Fund (GLBY)

Fund provides investors simple way to access diversified global fixed income

New York, NY – (GlobeNewswire) – December 13, 2018 – WisdomTree (NASDAQ: WETF), an exchange-traded fund (“ETF”) and exchange-traded product (“ETP”) sponsor and asset manager, today announced the launch of the WisdomTree Yield Enhanced Global Aggregate Bond Fund (GLBY) on the NYSE Arca Exchange. GLBY seeks to track the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Enhanced Yield Index (USD Hedged) and has an expense ratio of 0.20%.

“GLBY provides investors a simple and cost-effective way to access multiple economies, interest rates and yield curves with the prospect of higher return potential and lower absolute risk than domestic bond markets alone. This fund is ideal for investors looking to enhance yield or seeking diversification through global fixed income,” said Rick Harper, WisdomTree Head of Fixed Income.

What’s Under the Hood?

The WisdomTree Yield Enhanced Global Aggregate Bond Fund tracks the underlying index which employs a systematic methodology to enhance potential yield at the sector and global level by taking advantage of opportunities that exist between currency blocks and abiding by disciplined risk constraints.

The Index:

- Deconstructs the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Index into distinctive maturity and sector investment buckets for each of the major currency exposures;
- Re-weights sector and maturity buckets within each currency block to enhance yield, while adhering to disciplined risk constraints on tracking error, duration and sector exposure;
- Re-weights currency blocks to enhance net yield, while adhering to a set of disciplined constraints on tracking error and risk;
- And hedges the bond cash flows back to U.S. dollars to mitigate currency risk.

This process results in distinct potential benefits when compared to market-capitalization weighted indexes, such as a greater balance between corporate and government debt exposures globally and an enhanced tradeoff between yield potential and interest rate risks.

Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses.

There are risks associated with investing, including possible loss of principal. Fixed income investments are subject to interest rate risk; their value will normally decline as interest rates rise. Fixed income investments are also subject to credit risk, the risk that the issuer of a bond will fail to pay interest and principal in a timely manner, or that negative perceptions of the issuer's ability to make such payments will cause the price of that bond to decline. Investing in mortgage- and asset-backed securities involves interest rate, credit, valuation, extension and liquidity risks and the risk that payments on the underlying assets are delayed, prepaid, subordinated or defaulted on. The Fund invests in the securities included in, or representative of, its Index regardless of their investment merit and the Fund does not attempt to outperform its Index or take defensive positions in declining markets. Due to the investment strategy of the Fund, it may make higher capital gain distributions than other ETFs. The Fund uses various strategies to attempt to minimize the impact of changes in the value of the non-U.S. currencies against the U.S. dollar. These strategies may not be successful. Derivatives used by the Fund to offset its exposure to foreign currencies represented in the Index may not perform as intended. There can be no assurance that the Fund's hedging transactions will be effective. Please read the Fund's prospectus for specific details regarding the Fund's risk profile.
