2. How and why were the Funds chosen to be closed and liquidated?

WisdomTree completed a broad review of its Fund family in an effort to ensure that all of its Funds are useful, compelling and differentiated investment offerings within the current ETF landscape. After carefully evaluating multiple factors, including shareholder feedback, length of time on the market, asset levels, limited market demand and competitive positioning, WisdomTree determined it would be in the best interest of each Fund and its shareholders to close and liquidate the Funds identified above.

3. Can I sell my shares now?

Yes. Until the date the Funds stop trading you may sell Fund shares as you normally would. In this case, the price you receive will be the market price for such shares and you may pay a brokerage commission in connection with your transaction. If you sell your shares you will be subject to a capital gain or loss equal to the amount you receive for your shares in excess of the adjusted basis in your shares.

4. When will Fund shares stop trading?

Fund shares for DBU, GNAT, CCX, CCXE and TONS are currently listed and traded on NYSE Arca. Fund shares for JGBB are currently listed and traded on NASDAQ. In order to help the Funds wind down their affairs, Fund shares will stop trading on their respective exchange after the close of trading on Thursday, September 22, 2016. After the close of business on September 22, 2016, the Funds will no longer accept creation orders. If you wish to sell your shares prior to the actual liquidation of the Funds you should do so by the close of trading on Thursday, September 22, 2016. The Funds will not accept orders to purchase additional shares after this date.

5. What happens if I do not sell my shares before September 22, 2016?

Investors holding Fund shares as of the close of business on September 29, 2016, will be automatically redeemed and will receive cash equal to the amount of the Net Asset Value (NAV) of their shares as of the close of business on that day. The amount distributed will include any accrued capital gains and dividends, and proceeds will automatically be deposited into the account where shares were held. You generally will be subject to a capital gain or loss equal to the amount you receive for your shares in excess of the adjusted basis in your shares. The Funds will not charge shareholders any brokerage or transaction fees in connection with the September 29, 2016 automatic redemption.

6. How is the cash deposited to my account?

8. Will the Funds incur significant costs as a result of the closure and liquidation?

While each Fund's NAV will reflect costs incurred in connection with the unwinding of its portfolio investments and the winding down of its operations, these costs are not expected to be significant.

9. Will shareholders and/or advisors have to complete any paperwork in response to the fund closures?

No action is required by you or your financial advisor if you wish to have your shares redeemed automatically on September 29, 2016. If you wish to sell your shares prior to then you should follow the procedures you currently use to sell Fund shares and place your trade prior to the close of business on Thursday, September 22, 2016.

Each Fund anticipates pursuing its objective until approximately September 22, 2016. When each Fund commences liquidation of its portfolio, which may occur before September 22, 2016 and at different times for each Fund, the liquidation process will result in each Fund increasing its cash holdings and deviating from its stated investment objectives and strategies. If this does not meet your investment needs, you may wish to sell your Fund shares, particularly prior to September 22, 2016.

11. Are all six Funds on the same closing schedule?

Yes. All six Funds will follow the closing schedule outlined above.

For income tax purposes, the sale or redemption of shares generally is treated in the same manner. Shareholders generally will be subject to a capital gain or loss equal to the amount received upon sale or redemption in excess of their adjusted basis in Fund shares.
