Glossary

A Shares: Shares of Chinese companies incorporated on the mainland and traded in Shanghai or Shenzhen, quoted in RMB.

B Shares: Shares of Chinese companies incorporated on the mainland and traded in Shanghai and quoted in USD or traded in Shenzhen and quoted in HKD. These shares are open to foreign ownership.

Carry: The amount of return that accrues from investing in fixed income or currency forward contracts.

Dividend growth: The growth in trailing 12-month dividends for the specified universe.

Dividend yield: A financial ratio that shows how much a company pays out in dividends each year relative to its share price. Relative dividend yield compares the current absolute dividend yield to a benchmark or a range of past dividend yields over a relevant time period

Est. Price-to-Earnings ratio: Share price divided by estimated 12-month earnings per share. Lower numbers indicate an ability to access greater amounts of estimated 12-month earnings per dollar invested.

Forward P/E ratio: Share price divided by compilation of analyst estimates for earnings-per-share over the coming 12-month period. These are estimates that may be subject to revision or prove to be incorrect over time.

H Shares: Shares of Chinese companies incorporated on mainland China and traded in Hong Kong.

Inflation: Characterized by rising price levels.

Large-Capitalization (Large-Cap): A term used by the investment community to refer to companies with a market capitalization value of more than $10 billion. Large cap is an abbreviation of the term "large market capitalization". Market capitalization is calculated by multiplying the number of a company's shares outstanding by its stock price per Market Capitalization: Market cap = share prices x number of shares outstanding. Firms with the highest values receive the highest weights in approaches designed to weight firms by market cap.

Median: The median is the value within a dataset at which 50% of all observations occur above and 50% occur below.

Moving Average: An average over a specified period, with the range of dates ending at the date of the data point's occurrence.

N Shares: Shares of Chinese companies incorporated outside mainland China and U.S.-listed on the NYSE or Nasdaq.

P Chips: Shares of non-state-owned Chinese companies incorporated outside the mainland and traded in Hong Kong.

Price-to-earnings (P/E) ratio: Share price divided by earnings per share. Lower numbers indicate an ability to access greater amounts of earnings per dollar invested. Relative P/E compares the current absolute P/E to a benchmark or a range of past P/Es over a relevant time period

Red Chips: Shares of state-owned Chinese companies incorporated outside mainland China and traded in Hong Kong.

Sharpe ratio: Measure of risk-adjusted return. Higher values indicate greater return per unit of risk, specifically standard deviation, which is viewed as being desirable.

Small-Capitalization (Small-Caps): new or relatively young companies that typically have a market capitalization between $200 million to $2 billion.

Standard deviation: Measure of how widely an investment or investment strategy's returns move relative to its average returns for an observed period. A higher value implies more "risk", in that there is more of a chance the actual return observed is farther away from the average return. Sigma (σ) represents standard deviation.

Treasury: Debt obligation issued by the U.S. government with payments of principal and interest backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government.

Value: Characterized by lower price levels relative to fundamentals, such as earnings or dividends. Prices are lower because investors are less certain of the performance of these fundamentals in the future. This term is also related to the Value Factor, which associates these stock characteristics with excess returns vs the market over time.

Volatility: A measure of the dispersion of actual returns around a particular average level.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Investors should carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the Fund before investing. For a prospectus or, if available, the summary prospectus containing this and other important information about the fund, call 866.909.9473 or visit WisdomTree.com/investments. Read the prospectus or, if available, the summary prospectus carefully before investing.

Performance is historical and does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than quoted. Investment returns and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Performance data for the most recent month-end is available at wisdomtree.com/investments.

WisdomTree shares are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the Fund. Total Returns are calculated using the daily 4:00 p.m. EST net asset value (NAV). Market price returns reflect the midpoint of the bid/ask spread as of the close of trading on the exchange where Fund shares are listed. Market price returns do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times.

There are risks associated with investing, including possible loss of principal. Foreign investing involves currency, political and economic risk. Funds focusing on a single country, sector and/or funds that emphasize investments in smaller companies may experience greater price volatility. Investments in emerging markets, real estate, currency, fixed income and alternative investments include additional risks. Dividends are not guaranteed and a company's future abilities to pay dividends may be limited. A company currently paying dividends may cease paying dividends at any time. Please see prospectus for discussion of risks.
